

Lesson 7 review

1. One example of a developed country is	Japan.
2. People in developing countries are likely to	live in rural areas and work on farms.
3. The total value of goods and services that a country produces in a year is called	gross domestic product.
4. The per capita GDP is calculated by	dividing a country's total GDP by its population.
5. Which statement is true?	There is enough food on the planet to feed everyone.
6. On average, adults need about 2,700 calories per day. How many calories do people in many developed countries consume per day?	3,300
7. Why does India have the largest number of hungry people in the world?	Many Indian farmers can make more money by exporting food to other countries.
9. Americans make up just 5 percent of the world population. How much oil do they consume?	25 percent of the oil pumped out of the ground each year
10. What would happen if every nation consumed oil at the same rate as the United States?	There would not be enough oil to meet world demand.
11. Why is there a lack of computers in many villages in India?	Many villages there do not yet have electricity.
12. Which statement about computers is true?	Most households in the United States own a computer.

